SOLVAY GUILD COLLECTION
1940-1965

The Solvay Guild was an executive committee that coordinated the activities of seven circles: Beta, Boethos, Business Women's, Dora Hazard, Gamma, Solvay and Zeta. Each circle elected representatives to the executive committee. The circles met regularly to carry out their own programs. They also joined together for shared activities. The circles worked but they also had a social aspect.

The collection spans the years 1940-1965, approximately. The focus of the collection is the Dora Hazard Guild which engaged in many social outreach activities, ex., providing milk for underprivileged children at the Boyd and Prospect schools.
